You enter through a dark corridor, guided by the pleasant sound of water dripping down from the melting ice. Then the surprise begins as the ice panels begin to speak of the formation of the ice, the story of explorers and scientists. Pictures of great Argentinean photographers such as Florian Von der Flecht, Daniel Wagner, and Andrés Bonetti catch your eye and help your imagination. First the beginning of the universe, the glacial periods. Further down is a large model of the ice field, the origin of the glacial period that you will see during your visit to the area. Interactive screens allow you to view, for example, the recoil of the Upsala glacier.

Also part of the visit is a unique connection with the Perito Moreno Glacier, which forms a natural dam that then collapses with a great break. The tour ends in a tunnel with an interesting system of simultaneous projections that awakens your senses. Full Day City tour northern zone and residential areas & Southern Zone and Historical Highlights The tour begins in the area of Recoleta, one of the most sophisticated and desirable areas of Buenos Aires, where some of the best resturants, cafes, nightclubs and shops are found. The name comes from the Order of Shoeless Recoletas Monks, who established their monastery there at the beginning of the 17th Century, their church, and a small churchyard, which are the heart of the neighborhood. The Cemetery of Recoleta (the old churchyard), delights visitors with its location, its rich architecture and the social and political personalities of Argentina whose remains are there, one of the most distinguished being Eva Peron. Alongside the cemetery is the Church of Our Lady of Pilar and the Cultural Center of Recoleta (former monastery), important for its contemporary artisitic manifestations. In the rear part of this building is located Buenos Aires Design, a commercial center exclusively for decorators and interior designers. Another traditional building in Recoleta is the Palais de Glace. Of cylindrical shape, it was originally an ice-skating rink. In 1920 it was converted into an aristocratic setting for the tango, that for the first time abandoned the brothels of the lower classes to rise up to high society. Today this same building is used as a center for temporary exhibitions. This entire group of buildings,(composed of the cemetery, church, and the commercial and exposition center, are surrounded by peaceful park space filled with 100 year old trees,) known as Plaza San Martin de Tours, Plaza Francia, and the modern Carlos Thays Park, created just a few years ago in a space previously used as an amusement park. Leaving Recoleta, the tour continues to the North toward the residential neighborhood of Palermo with its elegant mansions surrounded by green lawns where one finds the National Library, the Faculty of the Law University of Buenos Aires, the Latinamerican Museum of Art of Buenos Aires (MALBA) and the Parque 3 de Febrero, which is composed of the Rosedal, Japanese Garden, the Botanical Garden, the Zoo and the Planetarium. world for its exceptional acoustics. La Boca is also the cradle of great Argentinian soccer, as here the mythical teams of River Plate and Boca Juniors rose, the latter with its famous stadium La Bombonera located in this area. The tour continues past the neighborhood of San Telmo, one of the oldest areas of the city, inhabited up to the end of the 19th century by aristocratic families. This neighborhood, where every Sunday there is an antique fair on Plaza Dorrego, has kept a great part of its architectural heritage intact. This section is also active at night where one finds various tanguerías, restaurants and bars. Followed by this comes the modern neighborhood of Puerto Madero, with its old piers converted into offices, apartments, places for entertainment and elegant restaurants, and views of Rio de la Plata. The tour ends here and the return to hotel begins.

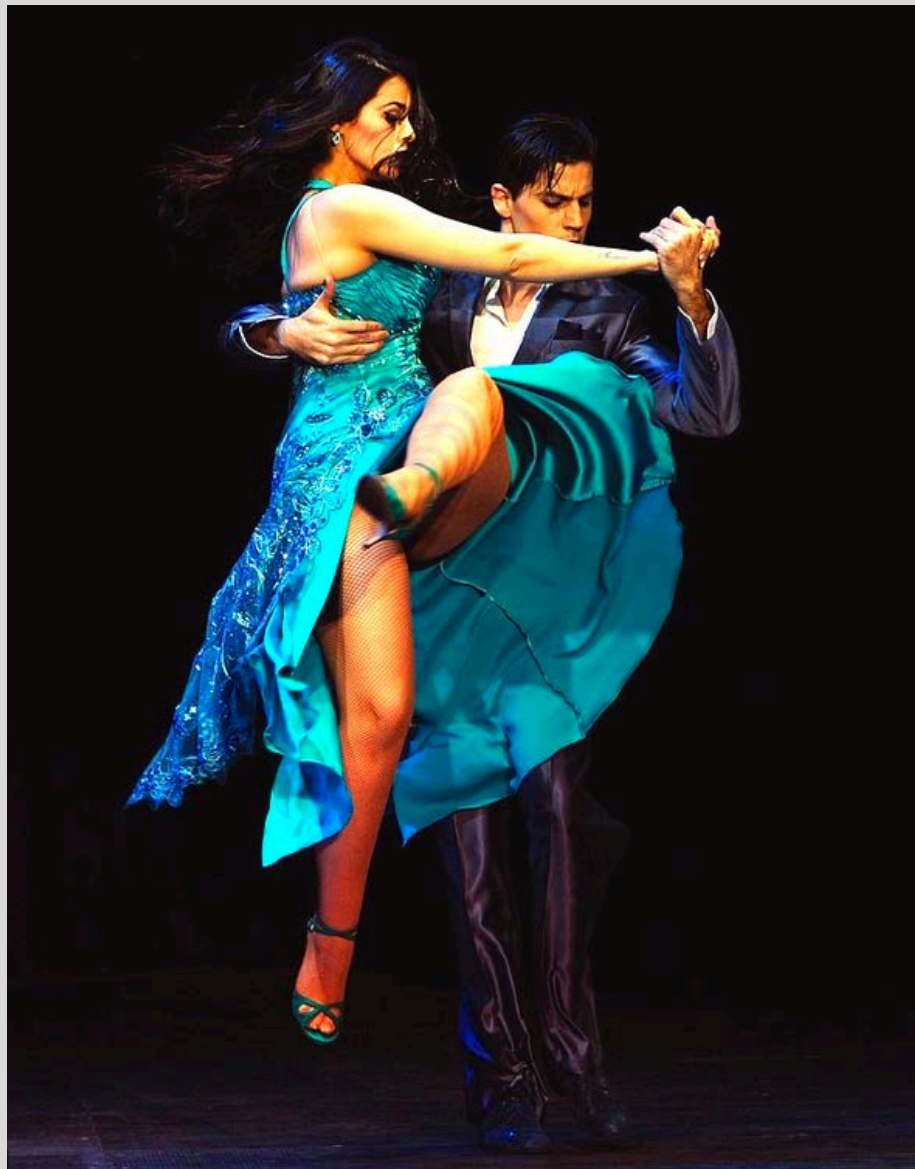

Dinner and Tango Show at Esquina Carlos Gardel

Seat in Coach services with English Speaking Guide - Depart from hotel 20:00 - 20:30 hs

Depart from the hotel towards the southern end of the city where most of the tango places are located. The tango is the music of Buenos Aires. It originated in the 1880 ghettos which were populated by Italian and Spanish immigrants, Africans and gauchos. From this intersection rose the “Compraditos,” whose songs, lyrics, and dances reflect “el duelo de cuchilleros,” or knife fights characteristic of the social ambience. The tango rose from a mix of Cuban and Spanish rhythms, some polka, and according to some, also a bit of African music. Its lyrics, difficult to understand and impossible to translate, are profoundly poetic. Each song has a story to tell about the city, its history and its people. In spite of its humble origins in the ghettos and brothels of the 1920's, the tango rose to the salons of the upper classes. The area of Abasto was the birthplace of the undisputed icon of the tango, Carlos Gardel, otherwise known as the “Morocho (dark-haired one) of the Abasto,” icon of the tango in Argentina and all over the world.

At “Esquina Carlos Gardel” one can enjoy excellent cuisine, an art nouveau style of decor which faithfully recreates the most luxurious salons of the epoch, the latest technical facilities, an artistic offering of the highest level and a mythical atmosphere ideal for an unforgettable evening.

At midnight, return to hotel. Dinner overnight in Hotel
